

Venture Capitalist and Entrepreneur Ron Bauer Teaches Founders the A to Z of Scaling Ventures

by Victor Williams – September 19, 2022 in Business

Given the complexities of today's entrepreneurial realm, success is not always guaranteed, regardless of how promising one's startup is. Having navigated the waters of the business world himself, venture capitalist Ron Bauer is highly aware of the harsh realities behind starting and scaling a venture. This awareness stands at the core of his all-out efforts to teach founders the nitty-gritty of transforming seedlings of a company into lucrative power players. Armed with over two decades of experience, he currently leads Theseus Capital in propelling startups to great heights.

An accomplished serial entrepreneur, business mentor, and author, Ron is the co-founder of Turkana Energy. The oil and gas company, which merged with Africa Oil in 2009, hit a peak market value of over 3 billion CAD and is now operated by the French oil powerhouse Total in partnership with Tullow and Africa Oil.

Apart from serving as one of the minds at the helm of Turkana Energy, Ron is also acclaimed for his bold moves within the sectors of life sciences, technology, EdTech, and natural resources. The well-respected figure has created a number of exciting ventures alongside some of the world's leading entrepreneurs and scientists, as well as world-class academic institutions. He has also invested in many biotech, tech, and natural resources companies, believing in their potential to rise through the ranks and make a difference.

Recently, Ron has backed a couple of budding game changers, including 180 Life Sciences, Pasithea Therapeutics, Stran & Co, Genflow Biosciences, Hemogenyx Pharmaceuticals, and Cognitivity Neurosciences. But, of course, his financial support to these companies is nothing new, as he has previously helped take public dozens of companies across the globe that have billions of dollars between them.

Currently, Ron is teaching founders and entrepreneurs how to start a business, raise money, and go public, bringing an in-depth understanding of the commercial space and talent at spotting potential unicorns and strong early-stage growth stories. At Theseus Capital, the University of Cambridge MBA degree holder leads a dedicated team working with founders who want to drive positive change through their innovations in the fields of life sciences, technology, fintech, direct-consumer, oil and gas, and more.

Since its launch, Theseus Capital has offered hands-on, one-on-one mentorship and guidance to a select few founders, as well as exclusive boot camps for earlier-stage startup founders looking to establish or scale up their businesses. Known for its reputable standing and widely trusted across multiple sectors, it banks on a unique formula that has been tried and tested for over 20 years – one that has made it possible for the several founders and entrepreneurs under its wing to gain traction in their respective industries.

From the get-go, Ron Bauer has operated under the overarching mission to translate into reality the vision of a better future, which is why Theseus Capital was born. In the years to come, he aims to lend a hand to more founders and accelerate their startups as he aims for that future to come to fruition.
